BRITISH TROOPS POURING INTO NORTHERN IRELAND

Offensive Against Sinn Fein Rebels Begins All Along Border.

Belfast, June 3.—Reinforcements for the British military forces in Northern Ireland poured into Belfast today and the influx is to continue all next week, according to present prospects.

Two transports arrived this morning from Birkenhead with the Scottish Borderers. The Manchester are due tomorrow from Guernsey, while the Royal Fusiliers and the Liverpool regiments also are coming.

They are proceeding to the Ballykinder camp, County Down, which until last year housed nearly 2,000 interned men. Before the reinforcements began coming there were nineteen battalions in Ulster, far below the war strength.

The most interesting arrivals were twelve officers and ninety-seven men of the Royal Air Service. It was understood that twelve Bristol fighting planes would fly from England.

A howitzer battery also arrived this morning. It left for Enniskillen, county Fermanagh, which is the center of military activity, not only the town itself but the adjoining villages being garrisoned. Wholesale commandeering of vehicles is going on, especially of motor lorries. Many motor boats are also being taken and officers have been inspecting other craft. The popular belief is that the military is to be used to clear the Belleek salient, evacuated by the Ulster forces recently, of its Republican occupants. Stirring events there seemed to be presaged by the departure this afternoon of large parties of the military, fully equipped and evidently prepared for a long stay. They had many machine guns. The men have divided into two sections, one proceeding toward Pettigoe and the other toward Belleek on opposite flanks of the salient.

The most important naval unit yet sent to Northern waters is the flotilla leader, Wallace, sister ship of the Brooke, with a speed of 36 knots. The Wallace reached Belfast this morning. The Warwick which is patrolling Lough Foyle, was the flagship of Roger Keyes in the Zeebrugge raid.

Belfast has been comparatively quiet this week-end. Two soldiers and three civilians were wounded this afternoon. The record since Monday is, eighteen killed and seventy-four wounded here.

The bridge in the Burnfoot district, near the border, was blown up last night.

Belfast, June 4.—Military forces to day captured Republican prisoners as well as a large quantity of arms and ammunition.

One account says that after bombardment the British stormed Pettigoe in the afternoon. A hot machine gun fire was poured on the attacking forces, but the only casualties was an automobile driver who was shot dead.

The commander of the Irish Republican army and his staff are reported to have been captured.

A semi-official version of the fighting is quoted by the correspondent of the Belfast Telegraph, who says: The military entered Pettigoe shortly after 1 o'clock in the afternoon and were fired on by the Republicans.

WINS MEDAL AT OGDEN

James W. Chandler, son of Rev. James A. Chandler, pastor of the State Street Methodist church, was awarded the Robinson gold medal in the Ogden College contest at the Diamond Theatre last night. His subject was: "The House in Order." Young Chandler is an eloquent speaker and his address was one of the most interesting ever delivered at the Robinson contest. When the decision was made by the three judges, Attorney J. Franklin Corn, Dr. W. A. Eisenhart and Prof. Gordon Willson, there was considerable applause. The medal will be presented to Mr. Chandler tomorrow night at the final commencement exercises. — Bowling Green News-Messenger, May 26.

Young Mr. Chandler is a nephew of Mrs. C. M. Crowe, of this city, and a grandson of the late Rev. James C. Chandler, one of the best known ministers of the Louisville Conference and former pastor of the Hartford Methodist Church. The many Ohio County friends of the family will be glad to hear of the honor won by the young man.

SMALL CHILD NARROWLY ESCAPES FATAL INJURY

Austin Uldrick Brown, the two and a half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Brown, was rendered unconscious and badly bruised, about the body, at about 2:30 Sunday afternoon, when thrown and trampled upon by a Shetland pony. Mr. Brown was leading the pony upon which his three children were riding, and as they were passing the Hartford Christian church, the animal's feet became entangled in a piece of wire, which frightened it causing it to throw the children. In the melee the pony stepped on little Austin seven times. After he had received first aid treatment from local physicians, the little fellow was rushed to the Owensboro City Hospital, where a specialist was called. Except for a few minutes about the time of the arrival in Owensboro the child was unconscious about fourteen hours, but upon reviving became gradually better and the parents returned home with him Monday night. His injuries are now not thought to be dangerous.

BASEBALL

The Riverside lads and the Centertown ball tossers staged a rather interesting exhibition of the national game at the local park Sunday afternoon before a large crowd of fans and fanettes. Up until the last half of the sixth frame the game was a bang-up good one, but at that stage the home boys fell upon the invaders and the slaughter became a rout. The hard hitting of the locals was aided by the errors of the visitors. Hartford's recruit pitcher, Tinsley, again performed well. The batteries were as follows: Centertown—Everley and Withrow, Reneer and Brown; Hartford—Tinsley and Glenn. The final count was 9 to 2 in favor of Hartford.

The local schedule for the week-end is: Hartford vs. Beaver Dam, at Beaver Dam, Saturday afternoon; Hartford vs. Mogg, at Hartford, Sunday afternoon, and Beaver Dam vs. Clarkson, at Beaver Dam, Sunday afternoon.

TEACHERS FOR LOCAL NORMAL ANNOUNCED

The teachers employed for the summer teacher training school are Prof. and Mrs. T. F. Ellis, Huntington, W. Va., and Prof. O. L. Shultz, Narrows, Ky. These teachers come highly recommended, qualifications unquestioned.

Mrs. Ellis is an expert primary teacher, of exceptional ability. With this faculty, a very successful term of school is the general prediction.

SOCIAL CLUB MEETS WITH MISSES MARKS

The Misses Marks entertained the Ladies' Social Club at their beautiful Clay Street Residence, in a delightful manner Wednesday afternoon. At the conclusion of a number of games of progressive rook delightful refreshments were served. Besides the club members the following guests were present to enjoy the occasion:

Mesdames Clarence Overholtz, of Cedar Edge, Colo., Leon Bishop, Charles M. Crowe and John P. Taylor, city.

STUDENTS TO RETURN

Miss Martha Carolyn Pate, Messrs. John Allen Wilson, Powell Tichenor and Glenn Tinsley, of Hartford, Marshall and Birkhead Barnes, of Beaver Dam, and William Maddox, of McHenry, who have been attending the University of Kentucky during the past year are expected to arrive at their homes on the 10th. or 11th. of this month.

McHENRY RHOADS PROMINENT-MENTIONED FOR STATE SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT

This time, it seems the office is going a-seeking the man; or at least that the two political parties in Kentucky are going to be very careful in their choice of an educational standard bearer.

During K. E. A., there was heard a seemingly spontaneous expression of choice among the Democratic school folk there assembled, for McHenry Rhoads to stand for nomination at the hands of his party. This was met at every corner; talked of by folk who seemed to have just thought of it, but to be increasing in enthusiasm as they held the idea.

Not strange, either; McHenry Rhoads has lived and labored for better schools for a long time, and has been true to his trust and to his friends at all times. As a country school teacher in his native county, Ohio, he was a success; later as head of the schools at Frankfort and at Owensboro, he proved himself one of the real, sane progressives. At the time of the passage of the measure providing for the establishment of a high school in every county of the state, there were only eight first class public high schools in Kentucky, and one of these—and one of the best of these—was in Owensboro, having been built up by McHenry Rhoads.

McHenry Rhoads has been an institute instructor for many years; one of the type—none too plentiful—who thought his institute an opportunity to do sound work in teacher-training. His influence in this capacity was limited only by the short duration of the institute. No other instructor in the state has done sounder work in the institute field than has Mr. Rhoads.

As Inspector of High Schools, and as head of the administration of the Smith-Hughes work in Kentucky, and as head of the Department of Secondary Education at University of Kentucky, he further endeared himself to all, and has made new additions to his already splendid record of service for Kentucky.

Mr. Rhoads has ample scholarship—we have an idea he has a doctor's degree concealed about his person somewhere, but he steadily maintains that the name which his mother gave him, added to the one which he inherited, are enough. So it is just McHenry Rhoads: scholar, teacher, executive, lecturer, builder—and there are thousands in the state who wish to add to this, Superintendent of Public Instruction. He is old enough to have poise and judgment in official position; he is young enough to do hard work in the service of the state. —Southern School Journal.

MRS. HOOKER WILLIAMS ENTERTAINS SOCIAL CLUB

Mrs. Hooker Williams delightfully entertained the Ladies' Social Club at her country home about four miles north-east of Hartford, on the Sulphur Springs road, Friday afternoon. A number of interesting games of progressive rook were played and delicious refreshments served. In addition to sixteen of the members of the Club the following invited guests were present: Mrs. W. C. Overholtz, of Cedar Edge, Colo., and Miss Mary Marks, city.

LADIES' AID MEETING

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Hartford Methodist Church met with Mrs. J. W. Wilson on Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. There was a most interesting program rendered.

MRS. ELVIRA MILLER

Mrs. Elvira Miller, 85 years old, died suddenly at 10 o'clock Thursday morning at the home of her son, Mr. Marvin Miller, a mile south of Owensboro. Mrs. Miller had been in failing health for some time, but there was no noticeable change in her condition that morning when her son left for his work in the city. Death was due to the infirmities of old age.

Mrs. Miller was the daughter of the late Ignatius Barrett and Clara (Taylor) Barrett; she was born and spent the greater portion of her life in this county. Her husband, Elijah Miller, died a number of years ago. She is survived by two sons, Marvin Miller, official court stenographer of Daviess County, and W. P. Miller, an Owensboro city employee, also a number of grandchildren. The late R. P. Miller and D. Lee Miller, well-known citizens of the county, were sons of the deceased.

The funeral was conducted from the Goshen Methodist Church Friday morning at 11 o'clock. The services were conducted by Rev. F. A. Sanders, pastor of the Centertown Methodist Church. Burial was in the Miller family cemetery.

Mrs. Miller was a good neighbor and friend, a devoted wife and mother and a consistent Christian lady. Her death is a great loss to a wide circle of relatives and friends. Her bereaved family have our most sincere sympathy.

FORMER OHIO COUNTY MAN VISITS OLD HOME

Dr. Brown is also a nephew of the late Virgil P. Addington, of this city. However practically the whole of Dr. Brown's active career has been in Indiana. From here Dr. Brown went to Kronos where he will be the guest of his cousin, Mr. W. M. Addington, before returning home. He was also the guest of his kinsmen, Messrs. Day and John Taylor, of near Beaver Dam.

She is a most estimable young lady and popular with a large circle of friends.

The groom, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Miller, of the Mt. Pleasant community, is an industrious and deserving young farmer.

We join the many other friends of the newlyweds in wishing them the utmost happiness.

GERMANS GET FURTHER TIME ON INDEMNITY

Reparations Body Grants Partial Postponement of 1922 Payments.

Paris, May 31.—The Reparations Commission tonight fully approved the German reply to its ultimatum and definitely decided to grant Germany a provisional moratorium for the year 1922.

The Commission's letter to Chancellor Wirth and its decision were issued after the Commission had framed them at a long session.

The decision was unanimous, the French delegate joining in it, despite the report of opposition from a section of the Chamber which caused deep concern in commission circles.

Laud Germany's Effort

The action taken by the German Government to put its finances on a sound basis and eliminate as much as possible the wholesale printing of paper money constitutes "a serious effort to meet the Commission's requirements," the decision says. Regret is expressed, however, that Germany did not begin earlier such steps.

In its letter the Commission states that in view of the importance of an immediate decision, on postponement of payments, the Commission felt justified in taking prompt action notwithstanding the fact that on several points Germany's answer requires further elucidation.

The Commission informs the Chancellor that these matters will be dealt with in another communication, but it is indicated that these matters are of minor importance and will have no effect on the present decision. In making the decision to grant partial postponement of payments in 1922, beginning June 10, the Commission says:

Commission's Conditions

"The Commission recalls that the postponement now confirmed remains liable to be canceled at any time in accordance with its previous decision if the Commission is subsequently satisfied that Germany has failed to carry out the conditions laid down."

The Commission further reserves its right to cancel postponement, if it becomes dissatisfied with the progress made in the settlement of matters still outstanding, or failing to carry throughout the arrangement in regard to the floating debt specified in the Chancellor's letter of May 28, or because of inability to obtain the assistance of a foreign loan, Germany does not make alternative arrangements satisfactory to the commission for dealing with the budget deficit and the floating debt.

SENATE BODY O.K.'S REVISED BONUS DRAFT

Bitter Fight Faces Altered House Measure On Reaching Up- per Chamber.

Washington, May 31.—The House Soldier Bonus Bill amended in several important particulars, but with the much discussed bank loan provision retained, was approved today by the Senate Finance Committee, 9 to 4.

Chairman McCumber purposes to report the measure to the Senate within a few days and said he hoped to get action before the passage of the Tariff Bill.

The more important alterations were:

Changing of the effective date of the legislation from next October 1 to January 1, 1923.

Removal of the time limitation on the filing of application for adjusted service compensation.

Abandonment of the reclamation plan and substitution of a provision under which veterans would receive preference in making entry on public or Indian lands when opened to entry.

Elimination of the forfeiture provision under which veterans failing to repay loans made by banks of the Government on adjusted service certificates would have forfeited their certificates.

Insurance Plan Rejected

Under the amended bill such veterans could reclaim their certificates at any time before their maturity, twenty years from the date of issue, on payment of the sum they were in default, plus interest at 4½ per cent, compounded annually.

Approval of the altered House measure, the McCumber plan, was voted by the committee after rejection, 8 to 5, of a measure offered by Senator Smoot, proposing paid-up life insurance.

On the vote for the McCumber measure Senator McLean broke the tie that had existed among the ten Republicans of the committee as between two propositions.

Others supporting the amended House bill were McCumber, LaFollette, Watson, Indiana; Curtis and Sutherland, all Republicans; and Simmons, Walsh, Massachusetts, and Gerry, Democrats.

Mr. Simmons, ranking minority member of the committee, said the Democrats supported the McCumber plan not because they favored it, but to obtain quick action on the bonus.

Harding Approval Expected

Neither President Harding's views on the bonus nor methods of financing the legislation entered into committee discussion. Senators said. Leading proponents of the McCumber plan expressed the belief that this plan would prove not unacceptable to the executive since it called for no heavy expenditures during the next three years that would require either new taxes or any large drafts on the Treasury.

MARY PICKFORD'S DIVORCE

FROM OWEN MOORE

SUSTAINED BY COURT

Carson, Nev., May 31.—Mary Pickford's divorce from Owen Moore was sustained today when the Nevada supreme court affirmed the order of District Judge Frank P. Langan quashing service of summons in the action brought by Attorney General Fowler to set aside the decree granted the movie star.

The divorce of Miss Pickford from Owen Moore, also a screen favorite at Minden, Nev., March 20, 1920, precipitated an action by the state for the dissolution of the decree on the ground that Miss Pickford's residence in the state had not covered the period required by law.

Attorney General Fowler appealed to the state supreme court, charging that the divorce was obtained through "fraud and collusion" on the part of Miss Pickford and contending that the Minden court had no jurisdiction.

The defense answered that the state was not an aggrieved party and therefore had no authority under the Nevada law to prosecute the action. Arguments were heard here January 30.

Miss Pickford married Douglas Fairbanks two weeks after her divorce.

Mary Is Very Happy

San Francisco, May 31.—"I am very, very happy, more happy than I can express," said Mary Pickford, when informed of the decision of the Nevada supreme court upholding her divorce from Owen Moore, according to her counsel Gavin McNab, who telephoned the news to her in Los Angeles.

YOUTH PUTS WILDCAT TO FLIGHT WITH STICK

Last Thursday as little Dick Esham was walking up Briary, he was attacked by a wildcat which disputed his right to pass. He soon put the cat to flight with a stick and he himself escaped with a few scratches on his hands and face.

This is the boldest cat we have ever heard of in this country.—(Stricklett Correspondence, Vanceburg Sun)

To Users Of Gasoline and Motor Oils

You've too much at stake in your motor equipment to be "spoofed" by mere claims about this or that thing in a gasoline or motor oil.

High-sounding technical terms don't insure you all the pep, power, mileage, safety and satisfaction you are entitled to in a motor fuel or lubricant.

But the word "Standard" does. And that's why it is the buy-word and the stand-by of the biggest users of gasoline and oils everywhere.

You can't "spoof" the big users. They know the dependability of the Standard Oil products and the responsibility of the Company back of them.

They know that if there were a better gasoline than New Crown or a better motor oil than Polarine, the Standard Oil Company would have it for them.

But "there aint no sich animal," no matter who says there is.

So good, so uniform, so dependable and so economical is New Crown

Gasoline that it is universally called "The Perfect Motor Fuel." It's even better than the requirements specified by the U. S. Government.

New Crown is made right here in Kentucky by a Kentucky firm, the Standard Oil Company (Kentucky) in its own refinery at Louisville, from which you get it fresh at all times—a firm that for 36 years has been a vital part of the business activities of the state of Kentucky and the economical life of its people.

Roosters Given Blame For Summer Egg Losses

Roosters allowed to run with poultry flocks during warm weather cause Kentucky poultrymen and farmers a loss of almost one million dollars each year in the form of fertile eggs that spoil on their way to the consumer, poultrymen at the College of Agriculture say. The production of infertile eggs and the prevention of a large part of this loss requires that owners of laying hens sell, kill or confine all roosters as soon as the hatching season is over, they say. Hens without a rooster lay just as many eggs as those allowed to run with a rooster, it was pointed out.

"A fertile egg may become unfit for food in 24 hours of warm weather," J. H. Martin, in charge of the College poultry work, said. "An egg does not need to be incubated in order to spoil because warm weather will cause development of the germ. On the other hand, an infertile egg may be kept in an incubator at 103 degrees for seven days and still be good for cooking."

"Experiments have shown that it does not pay to hatch chicks after the first of June," he continued. "This being the case, there is no reason for keeping roosters with the flock during warm weather, since the hens will lay just as well without them."

"Old roosters should be sold or killed in June and the young roosters disposed of just as soon as they have reached frying size. Any cockerels kept for breeders should be confined. This not only will prevent the production of fertile eggs but also will enable the cockerels to grow more rapidly and to a greater size than would be the case if they were allowed to run with hens."

Flea Beetles Begin Annual Destruction

Flea beetles have opened their annual attack on potatoes, tomatoes, eggplant and other garden plants in Kentucky, according to a report made by J. S. Gardner, vegetable gardening specialist of the College of Agriculture upon his return from a tour of a number of counties in the State. The insects are particularly abundant in the southwestern part of the State, he said.

The beetle doing the most damage is known as the black flea beetle, its body being entirely black and covered with hairs. The adult measures about one-twelfth of an inch long. Injury caused by the beetles is characterized by small holes eaten in the leaves, the damage to potatoes sometimes resembling that caused by blight. The entire leaf usually dies while the damage to some cases is so severe that the whole plants are destroyed and yields of the particular crop reduced. Gnawings of the insects usually are accompanied by a deadening of the leaves about the holes, giving the plants a rusty appearance not always recognized as the particular work of the pest.

Spraying with Bordeaux mixture has been recommended as a control. This not only reduces the amount of damage done by the beetles but also makes it possible for the plants to go through a drought in better shape, Mr. Gardner says. In seasons of light rainfall, spraying with Bordeaux may make the difference between success and failure with the potato or tomato crop.

Bordeaux mixture is made by dissolving five pounds of copper sulphate in 25 gallons of water and slaking five pounds of fresh stone lime in another 25 gallons. These two solutions then are poured through a strainer into a spray tank at the same time. A small quantity of about five gallons may be made by using one-half pound each of copper sulphate and lime.

Garden Tomatoes Can Be Staked Profitably

Tomato growers, including farmers, commercial growers and back yard gardeners, again are considering the question of whether or not to stake their tomatoes or cultivate them and allow them to fall on the ground, inquiries being received at the College of Agriculture show. Staking is out of the question for commercial growers but can be used to advantage in the average garden, specialists on the crop at the college say. Staked plants are easier to keep free of diseases, they yield more an acre and produce a more perfect fruit than unstaked ones. "The cost of stakes, the additional labor involved and the greater number of plants required are the limiting factors for profitable staking of tomatoes when the crop is grown for the canning factory," N. Elliott said. "In this case, the ground should be cultivated thoroughly and then a mulch of hay, straw or some similar substance placed on the ground so that the fruit will be kept out of the dirt. Placing this material on the ground also helps to conserve moisture."

"For the average garden, it may be best to stake the plants. They are set about three by five or four by six feet apart and trained to a single stem. Stakes similar to a tobacco stick are driven beside each plant when these are set. By training to a single stem and pruning off all other stems and removing suckers that grow out of the axils of the leaves, it is possible to raise fruit of better quality than is produced when the plants are allowed to run on the ground."

"If the plants are set in the ground at least five inches deep and staked they should produce fruit until frost. Cultivation may be continued throughout the growing season when staking is practiced. When staked, the plants are tied every six to 12 inches, care being taken to see that they are not tied too tightly so as not to injure the fruit."

Majority Of Sheep Have Stomach Worms

Practically every flock of sheep in Kentucky is infested with stomach worms, according to L. J. Hollacher in charge of sheep work at the College of Agriculture. However, by using proper preventive measures, farmers can keep the infestation from becoming very serious and send their lambs to market in prime condition, he pointed out.

"On the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station farm we have found that rotation of pastures is one of the best means of prevention. Whenever possible, ewes and lambs are changed to fresh pastures every two weeks from the first of June until the lambs are marketed. It has been found that if the pastures are kept in good condition, the infestation will not be as serious as it is if the grass is kept cropped short."

"Rape, oats, clover and vetch all make excellent crops for alternating with permanent bluegrass pastures. Lambs which are kept free from the worms by these prevention measures will be ready for market much earlier than those which are troubled with them."

"If the sheep become infested with the worms, they must be drenched, copper sulphate, commonly known as bluestone, being best for this. One-fourth of a pound of the pulverized material is dissolved in a pint of boiling water and enough water added to make three gallons. This is sufficient to drench 100 adult animals, each one being given three and one-half ounces or seven level tablespoonsful. Lambs receive half this amount. It is necessary to keep the sheep off feed for 12 hours before drenching and care also should be taken not to strangle them while the drench is being given. Details of controlling stomach worms may be obtained by writing the Experiment Station."

Farm And Home News From Over Kentucky

With the organization of four junior agricultural clubs in one week in Nelson county, interest in this line of activity continues to increase among farm boys and girls in that district, County Agent C. L. Hill says. The county will have ten organized clubs with local community leaders this year.

Nineteen Davies county farmers who are co-operating with the College of Agriculture extension division in keeping cost accounts in their farm business are getting much satisfaction from their records, it is reported. Each of the record keepers took an inventory of his farm equipment early in the year and will continue the record keeping for at least one year in order to determine the value of putting their farm operations on a business basis.

Acid phosphate has received increased consideration from Fleming county farmers this year, in their soil building work, County Agent H. F. McKenney says. One community alone used 44 carloads.

Eighty-four per cent of the orchard grass growers of Oldham county have joined the recently organized Orchard Grass Seed Growers' Co-operative Association, County Agent Gordon B. Nance reports.

Breckenridge county farmers are uniting in a movement to eradicate scrub sires in all classes of livestock found in that district, it is reported. Plans for a swine breeders' association for the purpose of stimulating interest in purebred hogs, which the farmers will organize with the help of County Agent R. M. Greene, mark the latest development in the movement.

In Kentucky the second planting of lima beans, string beans, late carrots, sweet corn and tomatoes should be made by June 1.

Regardless of whether tomatoes are staked or unstaked, it is a good plan to go over them about every ten days and remove suckers. This conserves the strength of the plant for fruit production. The suckers may be removed satisfactorily by using the thumb and forefinger or a sharp knife.

When tomatoes are sprayed for insects and diseases, care should be taken not to spray them while they are in bloom as this decreases the amount of fruit which the plants produce.

About June 1 is the time to make the second planting of watermelons in Kentucky, Tom Watson is an especially good variety for planting at that time.

Equal parts of air-slaked lime and tobacco dust mixed together and sprinkled around cucumber, melon and squash plants act as a repellent to the striped cucumber beetle which already is reported to be giving some trouble, gardeners at the College of Agriculture say. Tobacco dust may be obtained by grinding tobacco stems.

SHORTAGE IN PANTS SUPPLY

In the early days of central Illinois a period when the settlers drove their hogs to market at Chicago, breaking a path in winter by means of a yoke of oxen and a heavy log, a certain young man was in the habit of walking eight miles to see his best girl. On the occasion of one visit a heavy snowstorm swept the prairie, and the young man found it necessary to remain until morning. He slept in an "outside" room, the space between the logs being unfilled. The old-fashioned feather bed with wool blankets protected him from the zero weather.

It so happened that the young man wore the style at that date, buckskin pants. Thoughtlessly on retiring he laid his pants on top of the bedclothes. A coyote or wolf crawled through the cracks between the logs in the night and carried his pants away. The theft was revealed when the young man was called for breakfast, and to cap the climax, not an extra pair of pants was to be had. The young man was forced to stay in bed and send a boy eight miles to his home for pants. There was only one pair in his family, those worn by his father. Thus the father had to go to bed and send the boy these pants in order that the latter could get back home.—Indianapolis News

ACT QUICKLY

Do the right thing at the right time. Act quickly in time of danger. In time of kidney danger, Doan's Kidney Pills are most effective. Plenty of Hartford evidence of their worth.

Mrs. Ben Ellis, Mulberry St., Hartford, says: "It was about two years ago that my kidneys were giving me a good deal of trouble. I would get languid and feel tired all the time. A dull, nagging pain bothered me through my hips and back and I had spells of dizziness, at times, I also had dreadful headaches. The action of my kidneys was irregular and I was so nervous and run down, I could not do anything. I took Doan's Kidney Pills and I am so thankful for the relief obtained, I cannot praise them enough. They practically cured me of the attack at that time. I am taking Doan's Kidney Pills for a like attack, and am confident of a cure this time, too."

Illinois Central System Calls Attention to the Careful Crossing Campaign

The safety section of the American Railway Association has announced its "careful Crossing Campaign" to be in progress from June 1 to September 30. In the past, these four months have been the worst third of the year for motor vehicle grade-crossing accidents. In preparation for the campaign, the country has been covered with posters and stickers bearing a picture of a grade-crossing scene, showing a locomotive in the act of striking an automobile occupied by men, women and children. Above the picture are these words in large letters: "Cross Crossings Cautiously."

The public will understand the seriousness of this problem when it is explained that the number of motor vehicles registered in the United States increased from 1,033,096 in 1912 to 10,442,785 in 1921. There is now one motor vehicle for every ten persons in the United States.

Some believe that it is the duty of the railroads to protect motor vehicle users from their own carelessness by separating the grades at crossings. There are 252,000 railway grade crossings in the United States. It has been estimated that it would cost $12,600,000,000 to eliminate them, or two-thirds of the total values of the railroads as established by the Interstate Commerce Commission for rate-making purposes. It will be seen, therefore, that grade-crossing elimination is out of the question, at least for a long time to come. If the drivers of motor vehicles can be educated to "Stop, Look and Listen" at crossings, this will give the same result as the expenditure of $12,600,000,000, so far as safety is concerned.

The railroads have made splendid progress in reducing the number of accidents resulting in injury to their passengers and employees. However, motor vehicle grade-crossing accidents have been steadily increasing for years. These accidents are caused almost entirely by the negligence of motor vehicle drivers, and for that reason the efforts of the railroads to reduce them have been unavailing.

During 1920 there were 3,012 automobiles struck on grade crossings. In these accidents there were 1,273 persons killed and 3,977 persons injured. If the drivers of the motor vehicles involved in these accidents had "Stopped, Looked and Listened" at the crossings, not one of the accidents would have occurred.

A motor vehicle in the hands of a careful driver is an agency for safety. It can be driven up close to the railway track and stopped in perfect safety—differing from horse-drawn vehicles in that respect.

The Illinois Central System heartily approves the "Careful Crossing Campaign" of the safety section of the American Railway Association. We appeal to our patrons and friends and our employees to co-operate in every way possible to make the campaign successful.

We want the public to know us and what we stand for. Our motto is "Service." By co-operation with our patrons we have found many ways in which we can render them exceptional service, and our patrons, in turn, have served us well.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

C. H. MARKHAM,
President, Illinois Central System.

TO MY BABY

It may be, little one, that I love you so much

Because I had waited so long.
For the dear baby head nestled close to my breast

For the joy of the lullaby song.

When I look in your eyes of innocent blue,

When I feel your soft hand holding mine,

It seems that no gift to a woman e'er given.

Can compare with the blessing divine.

And I pray that my life may hold nothing that's false,

I want to be tender and true,

And may no reproach ever fall on my name,

For I know I must safe-guard it for you.

And when I am tempted, my anchor you'll be,

Hold me fast to the path that is right,

With your baby-hand tightly clasping my own

You will help me to win in the fight.

May sorrow touch lightly your own little life,

I shall shield you as long as I may,

But oh! could I keep you forever as pure

As you are, my darling, today.

YOUR MOTHER.

Catarra! Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrha! deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrha! Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrha! which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrha! Medicine acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrha! Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrha! Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c.

THE VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

In another column of this issue will be found a clipping from the Southern School Journal, which is another indication of the rapidly growing sentiment in favor of drafting Prof. McHenry Rhoads as the Democratic nominee for the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction. This sentiment has been spreading for many months and began to crystallize at the recent meeting of the Kentucky Educational Association. There now seems to be little doubt in the minds of the school people of the state that he will be the next head of the State Department of Education, for his selection as the Democratic standard bearer would be equivalent to an election. Until recently, it was feared that he might refuse to accept the nomination but his close friends now assure the public that if nominated he will make the race.

Prof. Rhoads came to Ohio County from Muhlenberg in the early eighties and after teaching in the rural schools for a time became a teacher in Hartford College where he soon gained a reputation as an instructor of exceptional talent. In 1886 he became an editor and one of the owners of The Hartford Herald, and continued in that capacity for a number of years, proving himself a newspaper man of rare ability, but his heart was with the forces battling for a better educational system in Kentucky and he forsook the field of journalism and again entered the teaching field in which he rapidly rose, occupying in succession the position of Superintendent of City Schools at Frankfort and Owensboro, State Inspector of High Schools, State Supervisor of Smith-Hughes work, and Professor of Secondary Education in the University of Kentucky. In every one of these places of great responsibility he has proven himself master of the situation and to his efforts perhaps more than to those of any other individual is due the rapid progress of education in our state in the past decade.
Kentucky needs him with his successful experience, and his undying ardor, as the leader of her educational forces, and we do not hesitate to predict that when the proper time comes, his old home county, Ohio, will be found at the forefront on the battle line assisting to make his victory complete.

THE IRISH ANTI-CLIMAX

It is indeed a depressing drama that the world is witnessing in Ireland. After the apparent fruition of the fond hopes of the really sanely patriotic Irish, whether at home or abroad, the present anti-climax in the form of the necessary return of British armed forces to preserve order in Erin, leaves one almost in doubt as to the wisdom of the original grant of self-government. But luckily the turbulent element in Irish affairs constitutes a rather small minority. However, unfortunately, they have succeeded in bringing the country, which they profess to love, to the brink of a very dangerous chasm,—the reality of renewed imperial military control and the menace of its permanency. It is to be devoutly hoped that the latter will not become necessary. The present sanguinary clash which has necessitated the intervention of the British government was precipitated by the insubordination of a segment of the so-called Irish Republican army which refused to be bound by the treaty establishing the Irish Free State and to recognize the authority of Collins, Griffith and the other leaders of the provisional government. Though not openly countenancing the violence of the Sinn Fein renegades in their recent attacks upon the borders of Ulster, the persistent attitude of opposition to all efforts looking toward settlement maintained by the former president, De Valera, has greatly encouraged these irresponsible irreconcilables.

No doubt De Valera is honest, but his stubborn fanaticism is proving to be criminal in its results. The sooner the Irish get rid of him and his stripe the better for them and his hopes of autonomy. Too many repetitions of the present outbreaks might cause Lloyd-George and his advisers to repent their offer of freedom. Ireland will be on trial before the tribunal of international public opinion for the next few months. The sympathy or hostility of the other nations for the Irish cause will be practically determined by the outcome of the present cooperative efforts of the Free State government and the imperial authorities to clean house.

SHOWMAN ARRESTED AS FUGITIVE FROM JUSTICE

A traveling showman calling himself "Buck" McKee, but whose real name appears to be Frank Clemens, who has been exhibiting moving pictures of the life of Jesse James, with embellishments, in this county for some time, was arrested at Rockport Thursday afternoon by Marshal E. Cooper, of that city, on a charge of being a fugitive from justice and perjury, preferred by Hugh McGinnis, of Indianapolis. McGinnis stated that the showman was wanted at Columbia, S. C. for wife desertion and a number of other charges and that a requisition for his return would be forthcoming.
Clemens was brought to Hartford and committed to the county jail, examining trial being set for the next day. In the meantime the accused employed counsel and swore out a warrant against McGinnis charging criminal conspiracy, and asking his own release on a writ of habeas corpus. A hearing was had of both cases on Saturday afternoon before Judge Wedding. The County Attorney declined to prosecute McGinnis, unless the Court so ordered, asserting his belief in McGinnis' innocence and good faith. Whereupon both cases were continued until Monday. At the regular term of Quarterly Court Tuesday Clemens obtained his release by the method inaugurated Saturday. Shortly thereafter word was received from the Fox Film Corporation that the moving picture films found in Clemens' possession were stolen and ordering his prosecution. Also a telegram was received from McGinnis in Louisville that a requisition from the Governor of South Carolina was on the way. If the showman remains in this section new developments in the case are looked for in a short time.

Mr. McGinnis made a good impression locally. He is a Kentuckian and a former prominent athlete, having met in the boxing ring a number of pugilistic celebrities. Although acting in this case as a private investigator, it is rumored that he has also a more personal motive, a very near relative having been a victim of the hunted showman.

COURT HOUSE CULLINGS

There was very little business in County Court Monday, practically the entire docket being continued.
In Quarterly Court, however, there was considerable activity as follows:

Commonwealth vs. Tom Crahan, fined $10 and costs on a charge of breach of the peace.

Com'th. vs. Pony McDaniel, charged with transporting liquor for sale, fined $300 and sentenced to jail for 60 days.

Com'th. vs. J. Casebier, charged with breach of peace, hung jury and set forward till Saturday.

Mr. Dolly, one of the best showmen on Fourth street, in Louisville, told us in person that these first issues of Constance and Norma Talmage were the best they ever produced—each of them have had four or five re-issued, and he says he is going to give his patrons the benefit of every one of them. To see if you will appreciate a favor by filling the house on Thursday, we are going to admit everybody to this show for 10c. The very same thing was shown in Louisville last week for 30c.

Friday and Saturday, June 9th and 10th

We are going to offer you

The Greatest Domestic Drama Ever Screened.

Rub your eyes—pinch your elbows—here's a picture with 100 per cent appeal.

An Exceptional Picture—A Perfect Picture

"A MAN'S HOME"

What He Works For, What He Fights For, Where His Love Is.

"A Man's Home" is the home of everyday people; like your home; like your family affairs. You can see how they look when presented on the screen at IDEAL THEATER. If you have seen the "Old Nest" or "Over the Hill" you will long to see "A Man's Home."

What They Say About "A Man's Home"

Ralph Ince, its director, universally conceded as one of the very best, freely states, that of the Three Hundred Photo Plays that he has participated in, either as actor or director, "A Man's Home" stands head and shoulders above them all.

Lewis J. Selznick, president Selznick Picture Corporation, one of the foremost and best in the world, says: "The exhibitor who gives his patrons 'A Man's Home' favors them with what we believe to be the most perfect, most powerful and most entertaining screen attraction ever to bear our trade mark." Not alone that, we believe "A Man's Home" will go down in history as one of the most universally popular photoplays ever produced.

Where could be found such an assemblage of screen stars—Harry T. Morey, Kathryn Williams, Faire Binney, Matt Moore, Grace Valentine, Roland Bottomley? No wonder it is acclaimed everywhere "The Perfect Picture."

Remember, we are only going to show this two days, Friday and Saturday, June 9th and 10, 1922, and if you wait until Saturday you will likely not see it in comfort. Come Friday and tell your friends what you see.

Admission: Children 20c, Adults 30c.

DEMOCRATS OF INDIANA OPEN UP GUNS ON G. O. P. National and State Administra- tions Are Attacked By Speakers at Capitol.

Indianapolis, June 1.—Indiana Democrats, meeting here today in their State convention, laid the foundation for their fall campaign, with a series of speeches blaming Republican management of national affairs for a business depression that has caused much unemployment. Speakers also attacked the Republican State Administration as spendthrift.

In the keynote speech, Frederick Van Nuys of this city declared the failure to ratify the Versailles treaty, with its League of Nations covenant, was "largely responsible for our present economic and industrial difficulties."

"We have heard for a year that prosperity is just around the corner," he said. "The people want some tangible evidence of that fact."

The Washington conference, called by President Harding, and out of which grew the four-power pact and the naval limitation treaty, was described by Mr. Van Nuys as "the shadow of the substance" of the League of Nations.

Coupled with his discussion of the National Administration, Mr. Van Nuys declared the combined expenditures of the Republican National, State, Senatorial and Congressional Campaign Committees in the 1920 campaign was $8,100,465, and he asserted that "the collection of such a vast sum by the Republican party is a national menace."

More than half of the keynote speech related to State affairs. In making what he said was a comparison between Republican and Democratic rule in Indiana, Mr. Van Nuys said that in 1915, at the end of the last Democratic administration, there was a balance in the State Treasury of $3,775,997, and that now the State has outstanding loans of more than $1,000,000.

Ralston Raps "Blind Policy"
Samuel M. Ralston, the party candidate for United States Senator, charged the Republicans with following a "blind policy" in the work of reconstruction since the World War. Business depression and unemployment, he asserted, were the results, and he added the claim that the pending tariff bill before Congress would "absolutely close the doors to foreign markets."

The Four-Pact was described by Mr. Ralston as "a very short step in the right course" to end war and he said he was willing "to see it tried out as the next best thing" to the League of Nations. He added his opinion that the League would not be a campaign issue.

"I am going to do all I can in this campaign," he said, "to persuade Beveridge, my opponent, to speak at least one friendly word in support of the Four-Power pact. He has not done it yet, but I am hoping that he will do it soon, so that when he does it will not look like he did it as a matter of expediency."

Many Women Participate
Miss Esther Kathleen O'Keefe, making her first speech since winning the nomination as Indiana's first woman candidate for Congress, said she was nominated as a citizen, not as a woman and if elected her official conduct would be guided by the "spirit that nominated me." With equal suffrage women have new opportunities, she said, to aid education, stop child labor, reduce taxation and say "whether rich shipowners shall be subsidized with public money while agriculture goes begging."

An unusually large number of women participated in the convention as delegates, and in the field of candidates for nomination on the State ticket Miss Ella Crawford, of Terre Haute was unopposed for Clerk of the Supreme Court. Other nominations on the State ticket included Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, Superintendent of Public Instruction and Judges of the Supreme Court and the Appellate Courts.

The platform as prepared for submission to the convention by its Resolutions Committee emphasized State questions, declaring in favor of "limiting the authority of the State Tax Board, the State Board of Accounts, the State Board of Health and the State Highway Commission." "The powers of other commissions," the platform draft continued, "have been so extended and enlarged and salaries increased until the burden becomes more than the taxpayers of Indiana can bear."

The platform draft also contained indorsement of the Administration of Woodrow Wilson, saying he "wrote the religion of peace" and asserting that return to peace and prosperity had been delayed by the failure of a Republican Senate to ratify the Versailles treaty and the League of Nations covenant. It added that the "achievements claimed by Republicans for the Harding Administration" were chimerical and that election of a Democratic Congress was essential to bring prosperity to the nation.

COST OF PRODUCING TOBACCO IN KENTUCKY

Washington, D. C., June 3.—The average cost of producing Burley tobacco on 74 farms in the Burley district of Kentucky was 32.6 cents a pound in 1920 as compared with an average of 25.8 cents in 1919. The average cost of producing dark fire-cured tobacco on 50 farms in the dark tobacco area of Kentucky was 14.9 cents a pound in 1920 as compared with 17.2 cents in 1919, and was less than one-half the cost of producing Burley. These figures are disclosed in a cost-of-production study made by the College of Agriculture of the University of Kentucky and the United States Department of Agriculture under a co-operative arrangement. Figures for 1921 are now being tabulated.

The yield per acre on the 74 Burley farms ranged from 378 pounds to 1,492 pounds with an average of 907.86 pounds. The cost per acre ranged from $160.20 to $493.60 with an average of $295.73. The cost per pound ranged from 20 cents to 66 cents. Approximately 80 per cent of the tobacco was produced at 37 cents a pound or less. The average yield in 1919 was 1,492 pounds. The light weight of the 1920 crop is attributed to the unusual weather conditions prevailing during the growing season.

In the Burley district an acre of tobacco required an average of 32.84 days of man labor and 9.38 days of horse labor. Of the total cost, man labor constituted 38.22 per cent, land rent 36.07 per cent, barns and sticks 11.65 per cent, horse labor 6.96 per cent, insurance 3.72 per cent, and machinery .76 per cent. Not including land rent as a cost, man and horse labor constituted 70.66 per cent, and the other items 29.34 per cent.

The yield per acre on the 50 dark fire-cured farms ranged from 275.2 pounds to 1,603.4 pounds with an average of 855.4 pounds. The cost per acre ranged from $77.61 to $251.04 with an average cost of $127.12. The cost per pound ranged from 9 cents to 37.3. Approximately 50 per cent of the tobacco was produced at 15 cents a pound or less.

In the dark tobacco area an acre of tobacco required 24.8 days of man labor and 8.4 days of horse labor. Of the total cost, man labor constituted approximately 50 per cent, horse labor 14 per cent, land rent 13 1/2 per cent, barns and sticks 7 per cent, insurance 4.9 per cent, and other items about 10 1/2 per cent. Excluding land rent as a cost, man and horse labor totaled approximately 75 per cent, and the other items 25 per cent of the total cost.

The territory covered represented typical farming conditions in the Central Kentucky Burley district and in the Western Kentucky dark tobacco district. Cost studies will also be made for 1922, and will complete a period of 4 consecutive years.

BILLION LOAN TO GERMANY LIKELY

Paris, June 1.—Approval by the Reparations Commission of the German reply to its ultimatum and the decision to grant Germany a provisional moratorium for the year 1922 have cleared the way for consideration of a loan by the international committee of bankers meeting here.

While in reparations circles it is thought there will be no disagreement and that a loan of probably more than $1,000,000,000 will be arranged within a few weeks, there is a tendency in some quarters to fear that the bankers will be unable to find a solution reconciling the economic and political elements of the problem. The bankers' committee met this afternoon.

KENTUCKY FIELD BARS COAL DEAL Western Operators Refuse Price Set By Hoover and Backed By Others.

Washington, June 1.—Western Kentucky operators this afternoon threw out of gear Secretary Hoover's plan to protect the public during the coal strike when they refused flatly to enter into a "moral agreement" to hold their prices for "spot" coal to a maximum of $3.50 a ton, as operators in a majority of other fields already have done.

The Kentuckians, whose mines are the only union ones not affected by the strike, due to a "no-strike contract," fixed their top figure at $4.25, and the end of a conference, lasting for fully thirty minutes behind closed doors, revealed that they had not backed down.

Hoover Voices Disappointment
Mr. Hoover's disappointment was plainly evident when he called in newspaper men at the close of the session.

"I regret that a small minority have refused to co-operate and are demanding higher prices," Mr. Hoover declared, and in the same breath he pointed out that the Government has no authority to force an agreement, "the matter being purely a moral question and one of co-operation."

He added that consumers "who are not treated fairly" may appeal to him and that their cases would be investigated.

A formal statement issued by Mr. Hoover on the Western Kentucky conference reads:

"The operators in the West Kentucky fields do not feel that they can agree to a lower price than $4.25. I have not felt that I could recommend this price to the consuming public and the matter is, therefore, under further consideration."

Higher Costs Is Argument
"They feel that their costs have increased materially beyond the increases in other fields. On the other hand, my present feeling is that they should, in the general interest, adhere to the maximum accepted by the majority of the operators in other fields."

Rush L. Holland, assistant Attorney General, tonight said that William Bell's appointment was approved, though investigation by the Department of Justice revealed conflicting reports, but in view of the strong support given Mr. Bell by Senator Ernst and Representative Ogden he "was given the benefit of the doubt."

"Some of the reports," Mr. Holland added, "were found to be untrue and others exaggerated greatly." According to Mr. Holland the investigation not only went into Bell's character but his general fitness for the post.

Kentuckians Are Disappointed
The operators at first were reluctant to discuss the Hoover conference, but a statement later was issued by them after they had been informed that Mr. Hoover had made an announcement.

According to one of the Kentuckians the wages paid in the West Kentucky fields are more than 50 per cent higher than those paid in any other field.

The Garfield scale for the West Kentucky field, which was used as a general basis in fixing a maximum price in the various fields, ranged from $2.35 to $2.50 a ton. It is said that the top price prevailing in that field at the present time is $4.25, the figure recommended to Mr. Hoover.

According to Mr. Hoover's statement, the West Kentucky matter still was under consideration, but the committee members said they had not been invited for further conferences. Several members of the Kentucky committee indicated that they would leave for home tonight. The committee included R. W. Hunter of Providence, C. W. Taylor, of Greenville, C. F. Richardson, of Sturgis, F. B. Rash, of Earlinton, Brent Hart, of Madisonville and Virgil Y. Moore, of Madisonville.

Failure of Mr. Hoover and the West Kentucky operators to agree is the first snag the Administration has encountered with the producers in attempting to hold down coal prices during the strike merely by "moral suasion."

80 Per Cent of Fields Join Washington, June 1.—Establishment of a maximum price of $3.50 a ton for coal at the mines, in 80 per cent of the present production fields for the duration of the strike was announced tonight by Secretary Hoover, though a small minority of the operators, representing Western Kentucky, had refused to co-operate and are demanding higher prices.

Consumers can insure themselves a square deal under the established prices by checking freight rates with the maximum price, he said, determine whether they are buying contract coal and make proper allowances for cost of retail distribution.

Lewis Sees Price Raise
Indianapolis, June 1.—The prices quoted at West Virginia and Kentucky mines for mine run coal before the strike of the miners became effective was $1.75 and $2.25 a ton as compared with $3.50 a ton, the price set by Secretary Hoover, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, said here today.

"The price set surely represents a big boost," Mr. Lewis added. Whether operators in the non-union fields will comply with the prices fixed by Secretary Hoover, was regarded as problematic by officials at miners' headquarters here.

Hail Insurance Rates Reduced on Tobacco

With the recent reductions of hail storm insurance rates on growing tobacco, in the face of the enormous losses to growers within the last four or five years, every grower can afford to protect himself to the limit and, with safety, go into the business of producing a crop that requires so much money, time and labor, as does tobacco, that should be insured against loss by hail storms.

Now that so many growers have gone into an organization for a more economical, business-like way of handling their crops, and the insurance companies have so lowered rates on hail insurance, there is no reason in the world for any grower to neglect the protection of his crop by ample insurance.

Better see your insurance agent right away and have him protect your crop, which is likely to be destroyed any day by a hail storm. Policies become effective noon, July 10th.

MARCONI REALLY FATHER OF RADIO

Story of the Gifted Italian's Work in Development of Air Communication.

While experiments along the line of radio really started as far back as 1827 and hundreds of scientists were interested in solving the problems involved for many years, it was not until 1896 when Senatore Guglielmo Marconi took out his first patent that the mastery of air communication got its first great impetus. His life history is to all practical intents the history of radio communication.

Senatore Guglielmo Marconi, G. C. V. O., L. L. D., D-Sc. M. I. E. E., was born in Bologna, Italy, April 25, 1874. His mother was Irish, while his father was of a family whose mechanical ability was marked. After an education at Leghorn and Bologna, the young man interested himself in the problem of wireless telegraphy, starting his research in 1895. He went to England and in 1896 took out the first patent ever granted for a practical system of wireless telegraphy, by the use of electric waves. His early experiments in England were made at Westbourne Park. Shortly afterward Marconi saw W. H. Preece and at his request made some experiments for officials of the postoffice. Some further experiments were made in May, 1897, in the Bristol channel, wireless communication being established between Lavernock and Brean Down, a distance of nine miles.

On the invitation of the Italian government Marconi afterward went to Spezia where a land station was erected, which was kept in constant communication with two Italian battleships working from a distance of 12 miles. For this success the Italian government conferred upon Marconi the honor of knighthood. After a return to England further experiments were conducted and on July 20, 1907, the first radio company was formed and two permanent stations erected. In 1908 wireless reports of yacht races in Kingston were made and proved the usefulness and adaptability to which the system lends it-services at the disposal of King Victor and was given the rank of lieutenant in the Italian army. He was employed on important military missions to England by the Italian government and after this service was transferred as temporary commander in the Italian navy. Marconi visited the United States in 1917 as member of the official mission sent by Italy. In 1919 Marconi was appointed plenipotentiary delegate to the peace conference at Paris, and in this capacity signed the peace treaties with Austria and Bulgaria. He was afterward awarded the Italian military cross.

including the Nobel prize, has not given up active work, but is even now engaged in radio telephone experiments.

Radio enthusiasts have increased tenfold within the last few months, it appears from a survey conducted by the Associated Press and covering the central west, Kentucky and Texas. At virtually all points from which reports have been received, there are thousands of radio sets, particularly for purposes of telephony, where at most there were hundreds before.

While the sets are used chiefly for pleasure and experience, they are being put to practical uses in many cases. Numerous farmers are receiv-

A LITTLE GRAIN OF SALT

Of mean and wicked stories

Tho' there be reason for the tale,
'Twill surely do no good, self to commercial purposes. In December, 1898, Marconi installed apparatus to provide communication between the South Foreland lighthouse and a lighthouse on the south coast. In 1899 Marconi read a paper on "Wireless Telegraphy" before the Institution of Electrical Engineers in London.

Early in 1901 telegraphic communication was established between two points more than 250 miles distant and at the end of that year Marconi transmitted signals from Poldhu, in Cornwall to St. Johns, Newfoundland. In 1902 he received on board the steamship Philadelphia in the presence of the officers, good messages on the tape when at a distance of over 1,500 miles from the transmitting station and signals at over 2,000 miles. In December, 1902, the station established at Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, under a contract with the Canadian government for transatlantic wireless telegraphy, was put into communication with the Cornwall station at Poldhu and inaugural messages were transmitted to the King of England, the King of Italy and to the London Times. In October, 1903, the steamship Lucania published a daily wireless bulletin from messages received from the Marconi stations. A powerful station at Clifden on the west coast of Ireland was opened early in 1907 for the establishment of commercial relations with the American continent at Glace Bay.

Mr. Marconi's work has been recognized by many governments and seats of learning; he has been decorated by the King of Italy and the late ex-Czar of Russia as an honorary doctor of many universities, including Oxford, Glasgow, Aberdeen, Liverpool and Pennsylvania, besides having received the freedom of the principal Italian cities. In 1914 he was elected a senator in the Italian parliament. He also holds many scientific awards granted by various societies and institutions.

Upon the declaration of war by Italy, Senatore Marconi placed his ing market and weather reports, and police are receiving bulletins. Sermons, concerts, health talks and style talks are transmitted. Universities and professional operators are co-operating.

Approximate figures are reported from various states and centers indicating the present number of radio sets. According to A. L. Benson of St. Louis, division manager of the American Radio Relay league, about 90,000 radiophones are used in four states as follows: Iowa, 23,000; Missouri, 25,000; Nebraska, 22,000; Kansas, 20,000. In St. Louis alone there are some 2,200. The radiophones chiefly carry concert music, but in many localities farmers have installed them to receive market reports.

Correspondence from Texas reports 263 stations in Dallas, ranging in size from 1/4 K. W. to 20 watts, and almost equal numbers in other cities of the state.

Cleveland, Ohio, reports probably 15,000 radio enthusiasts, 1,000 sending stations in greater Cleveland, virtually all amateur, and 10,000 receiving sets used almost nightly. These estimates exclude commercial sets. Cincinnati reports 500 sets.

Indiana has 4,500 amateur radio sets and Indianapolis 1,000 radiophones.

Wisconsin has nearly 1,500 stations and the number is said by Malcomb P. Hanson, University of Wisconsin operator, to be increasing at the rate of five a day. Nearly 1,000 sets are reported in Milwaukee and vicinity.

North Dakota has a number of receiving stations and a few fairly powerful telegraph and telephone sending stations. The North Dakota Agricultural college is planning to install a 100-watt service for farmers. The vacuum tube is displacing older equipment in the state.

Marked growth is reported at Omaha, Neb., by two radio clubs which have been in existence only six months. The University of Nebraska and Nebraska Wesleyan, co-operating send to amateurs in Nebraska, South Dakota, Iowa, Colorado and Kansas

BAPTIST CHURCH SERVICES

What My Absence Did. It made some question the reality of religion.

It made some think that I was a pretender.

It made some think that I regarded the spiritual welfare of others as a matter of small concern. It weakened the effort of the church services.

It discouraged the brethren, and therefore robbed them of a blessing. It made it harder for the pastor to preach.

It caused some people to stay away from church.

It encouraged the habit of non-church going.

It made it harder for me to meet the temptations of the week.

It gave the devil more power over lost souls.

You did not know it was so awful. You did not know you committed all of the above wrongs, but you did. Will you not turn over a new leaf and be present at the house of God to hear your pastor preach on "The Sabbath."
